Backend Of Web Site Finally Available

Written by Doug Kruhm
Wednesday, 08 December 2010 -

The backend of Regional IDX web sites are finally available. With the back end or the administrator section of the web site real estate agents can control what is on the web site.

They can control the text or the wording of the web site. And they can control the pictures that show on the web site.

Listings are still unavailable to change or edit as this would violate MLS rules.